The timely solution to the growing problem of children safely using the Internet.

zoomzaa.com

Background

You and your children

- How many of you have children?
- How many of you also deal with children every day in a learning environment?
- How many of you as parents, educators or both have provided your children with Internet access – including an email address and the ability to communicate via some online chat application?
- How many of your young children have a computer in their room at home?

Background

Children and the Internet

- How many of you would actually encourage any child, especially your own, to talk with total strangers – anywhere?
- Do your children use a computer in your home?
- Do they also use computers in school or even public libraries?
- Are these the only places that your children might use a computer?
- Are you absolutely sure about that?
- What happens at a sleepover, or, for example, if your child goes to a friend's house before one of their parents come home?
- Do you have really know what they are doing while online?

A clear and present danger

What is cyber bullying?

- When we were children, it was called teasing and rarely was it malicious.
- When harmful even cruel text or images are sent to another individual via the Internet. This could be using email, online chat or through social networking environments such as MySpace.com or Facebook.com.
- Creating web sites that have stories, cartoons, pictures, and jokes ridiculing others with the intent to deliberately “hurt” another individual.
- Posting pictures of classmates online and asking students to rate them, with questions such as, “Who’s the biggest @*!&#%+$ in gym class?”

A clear and present danger

What is cyber bullying?

- Breaking into an email account and sending vicious or embarrassing material to others.
- Engaging someone in IM (instant messaging), tricking that person into revealing sensitive personal information, and forwarding that information to others.
- Taking a picture of a person in the locker room using a digital phone camera and sending that picture to others.

Cyber bullying is emerging as one of the more challenging issues facing educators and parents as young people embrace the Internet and other mobile communication technologies.

A clear and present danger

What is a cyber threat?

- Cyber threats are a related concern. A cyber threat is bullying that has “escalated” – online material that threatens or raises concerns about violence against others, suicide, or other self-harm. There are two kinds:
- Direct threats are actual threats to hurt someone or even lead them to consider committing suicide.
- Distressing material provides clues that the perpetrator is emotionally upset and may be considering hurting someone, hurting him or herself or even committing suicide.

Will our generation ever forget Columbine?

A clear and present danger

Did you know?

- 1 in 7 child Internet users have received unwanted sexual solicitations.
- Only a staggering 1 in 4 have told their parents – 25%
- 1 in 17 children reported being threatened or harassed while using the Internet.
- Only 18% of even the worst online harassment such as threats of bodily harm or aggressive sexual solicitation is ever reported to authorities.
- 1 in 5 girls and 1 in 10 boys will be sexually victimized before they reach adulthood and less than 35% of these sexual assault cases are reported.
- 1 in 4 children between the ages of 10 and 17 have been exposed to pornography.
- The CyberTipline (8/05) received approximately 12,000 reports of child exploitation within the past 6 months – and that may only be 18%.

A clear and present danger

Did you know?

- 28% of teens said they use code words on a daily basis to hide their online conversations from their parents.
- 80% of youths between the ages of 7 and 18 receive inappropriate email daily and 47% of children have received emails with links to pornographic web sites.
- 60% of teens have received email or instant messages from perfect strangers.
- And here's a statistic guaranteed to knock your socks off... 63% of those teens actually responded.
- 27% of teens said that they have known a friend to have actually met someone whom they only knew from online communications.

All partners' advertisements appear on the right side of the daily emails or our web site in text format. They have a standard size that is designed not to be intrusive.

The screenshot displays the Zoomzaa interface for a user named Luiz O Brasil. At the top, it shows the user's name and email address, along with navigation links for 'Contact us' and 'Login to zoomzaa'. The main header includes the Zoomzaa logo and the text 'Activities for January 29 2007 -- Email Created at 0:51:35'. The interface is divided into three sections for different computers: LUIZ2, LUIZ-BOOK2, and LUIZ-BOOK2. Each section lists activities such as 'MSN Messenger Use', 'Web Site Visited', and 'Chat with', along with the time and user details. On the right side, there are two 'Sponsored Links' advertisements. The first is for 'TO KISS MY' presented by Tim Hortons, a consumer show for families in Toronto on April 28 and 29, 2007. The second is for 'aal20' (20 years), a leader in K-12 student information systems for North American school districts, with the tagline 'illuminating student information'.

• There are no pop-ups of any kind on zoomzaa.

As a parent, what can you do?

- We've all street-proofed our children; now we need to do the same for an online environment.
- Set up guidelines that deal specifically with meeting people on the Internet. Talk to your children about what to do if their new online "friend" wants to meet them or send pictures.
- Teach your children not to give out any personal information – regardless of any enticing offers being made.
- Encourage children to come to you if they receive any messages of any kind that make them feel uncomfortable.
- Encourage them to keep those messages so you may read them and then may take appropriate action.

As a parent, what can you do?

- Keep the computer in a high-traffic area of the house, such as the kitchen where you can monitor online activities.
- Maintain trust with your children; communicate regularly. Being overprotective may convey you don't trust them. Make sure they understand your intentions for watching over them so they might be more willing to discuss issues openly.
- Take responsibility and download zoomzaa today – and make sure to encourage friends, neighbors and your school to do the same. Remember, the zoomzaa network gains strength and becomes more powerful, more effective through the number of users.

zoomzaa Reviews

Wow, I am so glad I downloaded this on my kids' computer. The very first week, I found that my older daughter was viewing lesbian porn sites. I put a stop to that, and added another filter to their computer as well. Keep up the good work. I will recommend this to all my friends with kids. Linda, USA

I really appreciate that zoomzaa exists. Having kids entering teenagerhood in this techno age can be a bit overwhelming at times and your program is helping me to keep on top of things and hopefully keep them safe. Jane K., Canada
